

Ohio State Doped to Nose Out Northwestern

Wildcats To Give Bucks' Real Test in Fight for National Honor.

By EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A pack of wildcats is going to explode in the stadium Saturday night as the Ohio State Buckeyes and the Northwestern Wildcats may sound the loudest cheer as one of the nation's greatest college football games is played.

The Buckeyes, who have won 19 straight games, will bring to the game a team which is considered one of the best in the nation. The Wildcats, who have won 10 straight games, will bring to the game a team which is considered one of the best in the nation.

"More the Wright Way"

Intercollegiate champions who ranked fourth in the final national Associated Press poll in 1939.

An Ohio State victory Saturday night, which has an open date this weekend, could set the stage for a great battle between the Western Conference champions and Cornell, which easily beat Colgate and should win handsily over Army and Syracuse in its next two starts. Army barely defeated Williams Saturday while Syracuse didn't show much against Northwestern.

Can Get Revenge
Aside from the national ranking angle which may embellish the battle, Ohio State has good reason for wanting to whip Cornell this season. The Big Red eleven blasted a hole in the Buckeye record midway in the 1939 campaign, taking a 23 to 14 decision from the Bucks after Ohio State had whipped Missouri, Northwestern and Minnesota in order.

But it's a cinch the O.S.U. coach, Francis Schmidt, isn't thinking of Cornell yet. He has Northwestern to worry about, then Minnesota. In a season which promises one of the toughest title fights in Big Ten history, no one realizes better than Schmidt that it's better to clean up things in your own back yard before looking for trouble elsewhere.

Special to The Star
WOOSTER, O., Oct. 10.—Ray Hudson, former Marion Harding football and basketball star, pictured above with other Wooster college grid stalwarts, may be missed when the Scots go into action against Case this Saturday.

Hudson suffered a wrench left knee in the Gettysburg game last Saturday and has not responded to treatment as rapidly as expected.

This is Hudson's second year on the Wooster varsity. In addition to stellar defensive play, he has become adept at receiving forward passes from his right end position.

He is the son of former Marion School Supt. C. A. Hudson and Mrs. Hudson, now living at Orientangy village in Columbus.

UPPER SANDUSKY RAMS SET FOR TIFFIN TEAM

Drill Hard for Invasion of Calvert Field.

Special to The Star
UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 10.—Definitely the underdogs, the Upper Sandusky High school Rams are being drilled hard here this week by Coach David Henderson in preparation for their final out-of-town game of the season with Tiffin Calvert on Saturday afternoon.

Calvert promises to be their toughest foe of the remaining schedule and in addition is expected to be on the rebound from a 7 to 0 defeat at the hands of Tiffin Junior Order Home last week. Last year, Calvert and Upper played to a surprising 7 to 7 tie, but the Rams are not expected to duplicate the feat this season, with the Tiffin team considered much stronger.

With the installation of the lights on the local field nearing completion it is expected the Rams will be able to practice under the arts most of next week in preparation for their first night game at home with Marysville, Friday, Oct. 18, which has been set aside as dedication night.

SCOUTS ON HAYRIDE
Members of Sea Scout Ship Paul Siple of Epworth Methodist church held a hayride and party last Saturday night at Camp John A. Owens south of Marion. Eight couples attended. At a meeting of the Ship Tuesday night, plans were made for winter activities.

Draft May Show Finer Race

It will be interesting to see the reports on the physical measurements of the average citizen inducted into service by the draft or volunteering for military training. During World War I we uncovered an astonishing number of physical defects in the draft. There is no real reason for believing that the physical condition of the average citizen has improved in the twenty years that have passed since then.

The latest average physiques in the United States today are found in college students. They are superior to those accepted for life insurance and the latter are superior to the physique found in citizens' military training camps. The differences are not really easy to explain. There is no reason why a college man or life insurance applicant should have better nutrition or be a superior type to a citizen's military camp prospect. In fact, one would think that the last named would be somewhat more over-privileged (at least he gets with paid out-of-pocket expenses that would be a super-charge on his life). Perhaps it is that the average citizen's military training camp is in order to improve his physique. Whatever the explanation, the facts are definite.

Table for Height in Inches

An interesting study is that which compares the physique of students at private schools with those in state universities. The former are physically superior as are the state university students superior to the students of small sectional colleges.

Instead of the democratic principles to which it owes its service only we now have the greatest one man power in this country has ever seen. NEW ROAD PROJECT TO BEGIN IN WYANDOT CO.

WPA Workers To Be Assigned to Job Near Wharton.
Work will get under way within the next few days on improvement of a three-mile section of county highway north of Wharton in Wyandot county by WPA workers. It was reported in Columbus today by J. L. Kelly, manager of the Central Ohio WPA district.

Mr. Kelly announced the new project, which probably will continue throughout most of the winter months, will provide employment for virtually all Wyandot county men certified for WPA work. A number of workers now employed on an improvement project on State Route 251 south of Nevada will be assigned to the new project together with about 35 men who are not now working. Mr. Kelly said. The Route 231 work probably will be completed within a few weeks, he added.

The new project is being sponsored by the Wyandot county highway department and preliminary plans have been worked out by O. N. Essex, Wyandot county engineer, and Mr. Kelly.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Oct. 11
A SUDDEN and surprising event, bursting into a rather routine or humdrum state of affairs may have rather startling and far reaching results of a wholly unpredictable nature, according to lunar transits. This may precipitate an abrupt change of plans with a radical uprooting of current circumstances. New associations and environs not entirely welcome or pleasant may be looked for but these should not be decided upon with impetuosity or tumult.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of a sharp and surprising turn of events, which may have a radical and uprooting effect on prevailing plans and prospects. Change of environs, contacts and objectives may be enforced although not welcomed but enter into such rearrangements with calmness.

A child born on this day may have a restless, nervous and at times erratic nature with sudden impulses and "escapes" difficult to fathom. It would profit by being taught to cultivate response and poise in all sudden visitations.

Court News

Damages Sought
Suit for $15,000 damages for injuries allegedly suffered in an accident at a "thrill" show program at the Marion county fairgrounds Sept. 3, 1935, is sought by Mrs. Starling Snyder of 122 De Wolfe court, Marion, in a common pleas court suit against the Central Labor Union and others. She contends that an automobile, which was supposed to collide head-on with another car in a thrill show stunt crashed through a fence and struck her. She avers that the Central Labor Union sponsored the event and names seven individuals of the organization as party defendants. She is represented by Anderson & Lamb of Youngstown.

DELAWARE TO REGULATE HITCH-HIKING IN CITY

They Can Stand On Curb But Must Stay Out of Streets.
Special to The Star
DELAWARE, O., Oct. 9 — Two ordinances, one amending the city solid fuel ordinance to permit a coal trucker to weigh on his own scales and the other regulating hitch-hiking on Delaware city streets, were passed this week by council.

Harry Zink, president of the student body at Ohio Wesleyan university appeared before council in the interests of hitch-hiking students but did not oppose the bill which prohibits anyone from standing in any street, from curb to curb to solicit rides in a motor vehicle. The bill does not prohibit soliciting rides while standing on a curb. Councilmen were especially concerned about hitch-hikers who put their luggage in the middle of the street and themselves stand in the traffic line.

No-Third-Term Day

PLANS for national observance of a No-Third-Term day on Oct. 23 are in charge of the Republican campaign organization but among those who join in the observance will be many distinguished Democrats. The principle laid down by the example of Washington and strengthened by the warnings of Jefferson is too firmly built into the American plan of government to be discarded readily.

Dictatorship is built upon the theory of the indispensable man. Whenever a nation confesses that it has only one man capable of leadership it is moving in the path toward absolute government by an individual. Election of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term would convince him, more than ever, that he holds a "mandate" from the American people to work his individual will upon them.

The Democratic national convention issued a challenge to the tradition that no president is indispensable enough to merit a third term when it nominated Mr. Roosevelt. Americans who believe that no man has a monopoly upon the qualifications for leadership disregard party lines as they prepare to take up the challenge on Oct. 23.

Getting Acquainted with Marion

JUST how much do you know about Marion? Possibly not as much as you should, at least as far as its industrial products are concerned.

All of us are aware in a general way that there are manufactured power shovels and other excavating machines, farming equipment, racing sleds, automatic conveyors, and various other things which have an important place in the life of America and other lands, but there are a lot of details regarding which we are uninformed.

To have full appreciation of this city's industrial resources and accomplishments, and in order that we may be able to do the best possible job as home town boosters, "Home Products Week" gives us the picture we should always have in mind.

It was started last year and proved its worth so decisively that it is being repeated again this year and doubtless will be made an annual event. Displays of products from the various industries have been placed in windows in the uptown area and will be there until this time next week. They are likely to be a revelation to most residents of the community, even those who thought they were at least fairly well informed about our industrial output. The number and variety of products is virtually certain to be a surprise to the majority.

Take a walk around town to view these displays and you will get a clearer conception of why Marion ranks as one of the foremost industrial centers in Ohio.

A Doctor in Arms

WEDNESDAY was the 80th anniversary of the birth of Leonard Wood, general and doctor, who combined genius in both of his professions to win victories on the battlefield and in the war against disease.

Indian fighter, colonel of the Rough Riders at San Juan and chief of staff of the U. S. Army, General Wood's military record is impressive but not as important as his accomplishments in the field of health.

As first American governor of Cuba he found the island stricken with fever and plague and with the help of Reed, Lazear, Carroll and others he conquered the menace and made Cuba a healthy land.

Then to the Philippines as governor-general and there again the work of the doctor went hand in hand with that of the administrator and he attacked the menace of leprosy, scourge of the islands.

General Wood died before his work was completed but it goes forward under the Leonard Wood Memorial. Thus he becomes the first commander of a nation's army to be remembered for the lives he has saved rather than for the numbers he has slain and his monument lives in the people of the islands he served and loved. Millions were freed from plague because a great doctor was not lost in the making of a general.

Guarding the Front Door

IT IS comforting to know that the United States is assembling the nucleus of an Atlantic navy to guard its front door. Three or four old battleships and a few cruisers and other small craft do not make up much of a navy but they are a start in the right direction and Washington promises other craft will be added as fast as shipyards can turn them out.

Since the Spanish-American war the two English speaking nations have divided the responsibility of sea control with the United States centering its force around its back door in the Pacific while Britannia ruled the waves of the Atlantic.

Uncertainties of war now demand that this country strengthen its sea defenses at once. If America ever is to be attacked, the enemy must advance by sea and if it is to be kept from American soil the victory must be won on the water.

News Behind the News

U. S. Moves To Strengthen Outposts at Philippines and Guam.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—You may never see them—and especially the Japanese will not see them—but steps are being taken to strengthen our weak Pacific outposts, the Philippines and Guam.

Funds which can be used to make the Philippines slightly more formidable have been tucked into recent appropriation bills passed by congress in such a way that their purpose will not be noticed.

The navy admirals simultaneously have gone after the White House for a straight large open appropriation to fortify Guam.

These are coming steps designed to impress Japan with the seriousness of the position the navy has assumed in the area, but there may be others first.

Extortion of the embargo against shipment of copper has been considered. An investigation of the domestic effects of embargoing cotton and baring silk imports is being conducted.

None of these individual steps would be grave, taken singly, but in progression they would advance nearly the whole distance toward the grave result: foreman when Navy Secretary Knox called out the naval reserve.

This government has silently lifted its nose at the British offer to let us use the Singapore naval base. It is not because our navy likes the British less. It merely likes the Singapore base less.

The naval board of strategy is in full agreement that Singapore is "too far up the creek" for efficient use by American vessels. Its position is too far around from the prospective fighting area in the South China Sea to make its full use desirable. The admirals would rather have small storage bases at Mindanao, the southernmost Philippine island or in British New Guinea from such storehouses American vessels could operate northward on a shorter line to the scene of probable operations.

The White House has been definitely advised not to take up the British suggestion.

Labor Quarantine

William Knudsen, national defense commissioner, has privately threatened to resign in a post if the Hilman-Jackson labor quarantines are imposed on the defense program.

Knudsen went to see Mr. Roosevelt at the White House last Friday. No news of their visit got out. What was said was kept private apparently by both parties involved. But the conversations which both Knudsen and Commissioner Stettinius, the two top business men pushing defense, have held among their associates have left no doubt of what transpired. Both men were deeply upset by the development.

Their positions of responsibility for producing defense would be more untenable if the largest and most efficient industries are barred from defense production for political-labor reasons or any others.

British Credits

The propaganda drive to foster American credits for Britain will have a hard time getting beyond a little-noticed routine commerce department report on the present British financial position in this country.

This report disclosed the United Kingdom reduced its cash bank balances in the United States by only about $200,000,000 the first 10 months of war. Only $150,000,000 of American securities were cashed in the same period. As the United Kingdom had $2,000,000,000 of holdings in this country at the end of 1939, it appears she would now have nearly $2,400,000,000 left. Her position is actually even better because these figures exclude the cash and security holdings of the Canadians, Australians, and South Americans.

Britain, therefore, has no need of American credits at this time, nor will she have for a long time to come.

Draft Queries Answered

Wife Not Supported by Husband Can't "Get Him Drafted."

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(This is another in a series of columns in which an effort is made to answer some of the many questions arising from the selective service bill.)

Q My husband does not support me. Can I get him drafted?

A No one can get anyone drafted but if you think your husband misrepresented his dependences to the draft board, you may go to them and explain the situation. The board probably will make a thorough investigation and if they find that you are telling the truth, your husband undoubtedly will be reclassified on the basis of the board's findings.

This also applies in reverse. That is, if any wife, parents or other dependents have reason to believe that the selective misrepresented his responsibilities in order to dodge them, they may appear before the board explain the true situation and may be certain that the board will make its classification on conditions as they really exist.

Q I am a farmer. My parents are not wholly dependent on me but they would be handicapped greatly if I had to take a year out. Will I be placed on the deferred list?

A This is a matter which will be weighed and ruled on by your local board. As a farmer, or for that matter a worker in any other field, even one more closely connected with defense, you are not exempt. The question in your case would be one of degree and that is a matter for your local board to decide. If you or your parents feel that you have been dealt with unfairly you have the right to appeal to your appeal board and even beyond that.

Q If I am taking part-time college courses will I be exempt until after the close of the 1940-41 school year?

A Only if you are working toward a degree in a college or university accredited to give those courses toward an arts and science degree. Here again is a matter which must be placed before your local board and it will rest with it as to whether you are sincerely working toward a degree or merely taking part-time courses to evade your responsibilities under the selective service act. It is almost impossible to explain how great is the responsibility of a student to his local board and the responsibility of a local board toward a registrant. There are thousands of problems, with thousands of shadings which the board must decide, but if a selectee feels that he has been unjustly treated, he always has the right of appeal and that appeal eventually will reach the President of the United States, if a man cares to carry it that far.

Q I was married only a few weeks ago. My wife does not work. We have no other means of support than what I bring in. Will I be exempt?

A The selective service officials have ruled that you will NOT be exempt, per se, under those circumstances, but here again is a matter for the local board to decide. If you have evidence that your marriage was an affair planned before the selective service bill was passed, it would be a good idea to present this evidence to the board (announcement of engagements would be one method of proving plans before the bill was passed.) Other wise state your situation as honestly as you can and if you feel the board rules unfairly, appeal your case.

Q I have served three years in the regular army. Am I exempt from service?

A In peacetime, yes. But you must register. Don't make the mistake of thinking that exemption, under any circumstances other than age or those few classifications set forth under the bill, nullifies your responsibility to register. If in doubt, register.

"TALKS RESUMED"

Today and Tomorrow

U. S. Policy Far Different from Spheres of Influence Plan of Axis.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Prince Konoye is only one among many who have been suggesting that the world might be divided profitably if the Axis took Europe and Africa, if Japan took Asia, and if the United States took the Western Hemisphere. The suggestion has found an echo in certain quarters over here, the argument being that the policy of the Axis and of Japan in their spheres is in no fundamental sense different from our own policy under the Monroe Doctrine.

Walter Lippmann

Prince Konoye and his friends in Berlin and Rome are wholly mistaken. There is no resemblance between the Monroe Doctrine and the so-called "new orders" in Asia or in Europe. The Monroe Doctrine is, in fact, the antithesis of these new orders, it is based on a diametrically opposite conception of the rights of man, of the rights of nations, and of the vital interests of a great power in relation to its weaker neighbors. In principle, and in a practice which with rare and temporary exceptions has been consistent, the Monroe Doctrine is a doctrine of anti-imperialism; it is a policy developed to stop imperial rivalry and to check the expansion of empire; it is a policy which has preserved and encouraged the independence of many nations and their progress in self-government.

Based on Conquest
The new orders in Asia and in Europe are based on conquest, and they are imperialist in a degree unknown among civilized men for several centuries.

While it is true that we have acquired territory by force of arms, and that on many occasions in the past we have intervened by force in neighboring countries, the record after more than a hundred years is there to prove that this hemisphere, which was a colony of Europe, is today the home of more than 20 independent states. Our record is far from perfect, we too, have been infected here and there, now and then, with the virus of imperialism.

But we have regarded it as an infection, as something disgraceful to be exposed and combated when it shows itself, never have the American people as a whole believed, nor long allowed greedy interests among them to believe, that they were called upon to rule over alien peoples. The claim of the Axis powers that they are master races called upon to rule over others is a claim which, when made by jingoes here has always in the end been rejected by the nation.

It can be affirmed also without any unwarranted self-righteousness that we treat our neighbors better than the Axis and Japan treat their neighbors. That we can prove. For all the peoples within reach of the Axis dread its power, what our neighbors fear among us is not our power but the insufficiency of our power and the hesitations and divisions which paralyze our power. We can say with pride that nowhere in the world do the weak and helpless fear our power.

The Real New Order
We know, and the others know that among our neighbors and among the free peoples the complaint against us is not that we have power and abuse it but that we have power and do not use it. That is the evidence which we can submit at the bar of history to prove that the order which we represent is something totally different from the new order which these new empires are seeking to establish.

As a matter of fact, though they talk about a new order, we have begun to make—imperfectly and inadequately—a new order in the relations of man to

"Dear, I'll bet you the price of a new car you can't guess where I'm calling from!"

man and of peoples with one another. What is there that is new in the conquest of the weak and their subjugation to the will of the conqueror? That is the ancient order of things on this planet, so ancient that civilized man has almost forgotten about it, so ancient that its revival in modern dress has supplanted the imagination of mankind and caused many sincere but illiterate people to think it is a new discovery.

A Family Man

He's Other Girl's Model Husband Says One as Women Write To of Man They Admire in House

By DAMON RUNYON

HERE are some more excerpts from received in response to this column's for d-visions of the model "family man."

He looks like Tyronc Power. But he's domestic as can be. He takes his wife to the movies. He's just the man for me. He takes his wife to the movies. He sings his wife to sleep. The long list of his virtues. Makes me break down and weep. Because—too good to be true. He's not my man. And can never be. He's married to my girl friend. And she watches him carefully. A. R. Colfax Avenue, So., Minneapolis, Minn.

MY DEFINITION of the term "family man" is a man who is tactful at all times, especially with his immediate family. If you see any wife of her husband is a tactful and then see for yourself. Ninety-nine out of a hundred are not. Mrs. E. S. Springfield Garden, Long L. N. Y.

"FAMILY MAN"—One who gets up at night and welcomes a smile from wife when he comes in the door. He loves home and is contented to sit by the fire, evening in his robe and with his slippers on. He reads the paper at the breakfast table and is thankful that his wife let him for it. He hangs around the kitchen smelling food and getting in the way like a small pig. He listens to the radio but his children dial the dial he never even hears. He is in politics, but he is not a fanatic. He has his clothes where they fall and never when the house has been cleaned, but he remembers birthdays with gifts always with a kind word and a kiss. "He is careless in his dress, but always neat looking and immaculately clean. He is so much of his family's comfort is in most in his mind. He is cheerful even things look black and always shares his success with his wife because he knows she is to achieve it. "He has a gentle culture which is completely natural and lacks common, false veneer. Laugh is hung on a hair-trigger and only in avoile does he tell the same joke. This is my family man and I love him because he is the way he is." Mrs. J. M. W. Norman, Oklahoma.

"HE WHOSE interests in life is the wife of his home and that of all its members cooperating with them in the upbuilding in the upkeep of their abiding place, engaging their progress in life, helping to each one a worthy part of the scheme of a family man."

Mrs. R. S. Ellsworth, Mich.

MY IDEA of a real family man is the following description of my own husband. He doesn't smoke, chew or drink; he doesn't gamble, go to pool, he doesn't loaf or his spare time foolishly, but he's what I call him in the old version 'a hell fellow' who falls over nobody, is kind and friendly to everyone. Provides a decent living for his family. Is a staunch Republican in politics, and a Christian in faith and practice."

Injured Stars Return to Harding Lineup for Toledo Woodward Game

Hurst, Petty and Ferguson Back for Friday Night Tilt at Stadium.

By CHARLES HOSTETTER
Marion Star Sports Editor

COACH BILL WILLIAMS' unbeaten football crew should approach as near full strength as at any time this season when members trot out under the incandescents of Harding stadium tomorrow night to greet Toledo Woodward's Polar Bears.

Day Hurst, who hasn't played a single minute this season, Warren Ferguson, who's been bothered constantly with a shoulder hurt and Lou Petty, he of the sprained ankle, all have been pronounced O.K. It isn't likely that Williams will call on the trio to start but he probably will put Ferguson in alongside Roberts, Edgington and Petty for the starting backfield.

Hurst, if you recall, was heralded early last year as the 1940 quarterback, signal-caller and field general. When he suffered a dislocated elbow the assignment fell to 148-pound Charlie Roberts, who has been doing a capable job. Although Hurst weighs his undersides by 17 pounds he is going to need to show a lot of form to win back the berth he was slated to hold down regularly at the start of the season.

Tricks Out Roster
Yesterday's practice saw Williams using at least 10 men in the backfield and if the Presidents get along as well as they should with the Bears, all of them probably will get into the game. Howard Hodges, the light-weight but hard-punching back, and Howard Gilbert, who does a bit of punting and passing, both saw action against Ashland. Leo Belknap and George Schandt, both juniors, round out the roster of backs.

Tonight's workout under the lights will be brief, Williams indicated. It won't amount to much more than a signal drill. The club has done considerable work brushing up on aerial offense with Roberts and Edgington hurling passes to ends, Creasap, Richardson and Kemmerly and to the halfbacks. In previous games Harding has relied chiefly on a running attack, holding its air offense as more or less of a threat.

May Need Passes
The day or rather night, may come, however, when they'll be called upon to use that air attack. How it's going to function is a big question mark that Williams may try to answer to his own satisfaction against the non-league Woodward outfit. He also gave his proteges big doses of tackling, telling them pointedly he "hoped for improvement." He directed Edgington, Gilbert and Hurst in punting and Edgington in getting away his quick-kicks.

Wayne Short and Pete Basco got in a long session of placement booting from regulation formations. Each made 50 attempts. Short went 36 through the uprights and Basco's score was 34. Realizing the importance of the point after touchdown and of Harding deficiency in this department something finally is being done about it. In games this year Harding has converted on only two of seven chances, and some day in desperation probably will need to send Lou Petty or another hard-charging back on a line plunge for the point.

PUNTS & PASSES

By The Associated Press

PORT WORTH—Coach Dutch Meyer is taking seven players in the T. C. U. squad of 35 players making the trip to Chapel Hill for the North Carolina game, indicating that the air will be full of balls. "As I see it, the only requirement for a passing play is to be on the field and in possession of the ball," is Meyer's view.

SOUTH BEND—Notre Dame students prefer to do their sight-seeing in the "big town." Asked to vote on what trip they'd like to accompany the team, the student body went 100 per cent for the Nov. 2 game with Army at New York's Yankee stadium.

DETROIT—The Detroit U. Tians have cooked up a play that should cause scouts and opponents—a few anxious moments. On this play the center eventually gets the ball and—they hope—carries it for a big gain. The reason for such a play? Vincent Bannon, the center, would make a corking fullback—if he wasn't needed at center.

MILWAUKEE—It's not brother against brother, but brother for brother at Marquette. The right tackle berth is held by Chuck Pfeiffer and his brother Jack is his substitute.

PITTSBURGH—Pitt's Panthers are stressing pass defense in the unannounced attack of Southern Methodist, their opponent here Saturday. The Panthers also sharpened up their own passing game. In the event their power drives bog down against S. M. U.'s heavy and fast-charging line.

WEST POINT—Coach Bill Wood isn't very happy as he considers the invasion of Cornell's Big Red team Saturday. "When the opposition checks Cornell's powerful running attack through the middle, it threatens the flanks. When the wings are re-inforced, the backs pass. And it's almost impossible to cover the receivers because they outrun the enemy secondary." Outside of that, Bill reports his scouts haven't found much wrong with "the best team in the east."

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Well, ladies and gents, now that baseball is over, we can get down to the serious business of football. Who was it that said Notre Dame would murder Georgia Tech Saturday? ... We don't believe it!—We think those engineers from the deep south will give the Irish one of their toughest battles of the season. ... And don't forget, your Uncle Charlie picked those Reds in six or seven games. ... Did you know that Commissioner Landis gave Al Schacht (the friend of man) a bad half hour for that Tony Galento beer stunt? In the last game of the series? Well, he did and if you don't believe Herr Schacht's ears are burning yet, ask him.

NEWARK BEARS WIN LITTLE WORLD SERIES

Beat Louisville, 6-1. In Deciding Game of Series.

By The Associated Press
NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 10.—The power-house Newark Bears were back on top of the minor league baseball word today after defeating the Louisville Colonels of the American Association four games to two in the 1940 Little World Series.

Putting on the pressure last night the International leaguers trounced the Colonels, 6 to 1, behind the six hit pitching of knuckle-baller Steve Peck to end the 22nd renewal of the annual best-of-seven series.

The Bears rapped out ten base hits off Charley Wagner and Forrest (Tot) Pressnell, both right handers, in dethroning the 1939 champions.

MERCHANTS REVIEW RECORD OF SEASON

Putman Reports 29 Wins and 11 Losses.

Marion Merchant softballers closed their schedule with 29 victories and 11 losses, records of Manager Bob Putman show. Bill Everly was his steadiest moundsman, going to the hill 19 times and coming away the victor in 14 contests. Harold Milling elbowed 10 wins while losing five games for a 2-3 record.

The largest crowd to see the Merchants in action was on hand for a twin bill at Garfield park, July 21 when the Putman crew entertained the Speedway A. C., a Columbus colored outfit. He estimated 1,800 fans saw the games. The Merchants played in four tournaments and went to the finals in two of them.

Maynard Snyder, who ordinarily is assigned to hurling duties in city circuit play, saw action at shortstop in eight games with the Merchants. He proved his prowess at bat by slugging 14 hits in 24 trips for a .583 average, the best of any member of the club this season. Mickey Ferrin, with a .395 average, hit most consistently for players who played in more than 10 games.

"IVY LEAGUE" NEARLY REAL GRID CIRCUIT

Old Eastern Teams Drawing Closer Than Ever.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The "Ivy league," an informal but influential group of eastern colleges that has been playing football longer and often better than any other in America, appears closer than ever to becoming a regular circuit.

Although seven of the ten schools that are generally considered to belong in this group are members of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football and Baseball leagues, the always have fought shy of forming an iron-bound football circuit. They come as close as conditions permit to paying the same scholastic standards and eligibility requirements and they can escape a lot of the dangers of "high pressure" football because their ancient prestige attracts boys who can play well and still measure up to other standards.

Now the schedules show that Army, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania Navy, Princeton and Yale, have just about formed a closed corporation to play among themselves.

This week, for example, only two of them are playing outside the "league" while the others pair off this way: Cornell vs. Army, Yale vs. Penn, Dartmouth vs. Columbia and Princeton vs. Navy.

Cornell and Penn, at least, rank among the best teams in the east this year and Princeton and Navy both have pretty good prospects. The other games Saturday send Harvard against Michigan, an institution of equal stature in the middle west, and Brown against one of its oldest rivals, Colgate.

The schedules reveal that only

Big Red Rated Best Aerial Team in U. S.; Dra Leads Total Offense.

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, Oct. 10.—Cornell's 1940 gridiron debut last week was just as impressive on the yardstick as it was on the yard lines.

The American football statistical bureau, starting its annual compilation of the country's collegiate football performances, today pegged the Ithacans as the country's top passing team and ranked them second on total offense—gains from rushing and passing—on the basis of the 34-0 thumping of Colgate.

Drake university, mainly through swamping Montana State 56-0 in its opener, has a two-game average of 446.5 yards per game to lead in total offense. Cornell is second with 526, followed by Brown, 425 in two games; Mississippi, with 421.7 in three games, and Rice, 420 in one game. Creighton, Iowa, Illinois and Arizona follow.

Creighton has the highest rushing average per game, 394 yards, followed by Brown, 380.3; LaFayette, conqueror of N.Y.U., 370; Iowa, 368, and Mississippi State, 333.5. Michigan, Wake Forest, Mississippi Northwestern and Tennessee, playing tougher opposition than some of the first five, still push their way into the top ten. Wake Forest led this classification in 1939.

Cornell's 276 yards from 11 completions ranks the Big Red first as a passing team. Illinois, with a 257 yard average, is second; Indiana third with 234; Missouri fourth with 205 and Texas A. & M., fifth with 183. Texas, Baylor, Rice, Arizona and Columbia have fewer than five "league" games scheduled while Yale tops the list with seven.

PRESIDENT PREPARES TO START OHIO TRIP

Conferences with Hull and Welles Set Today.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt scheduled a conference with Secretary Hull and Under-Secretary Welles today, presumably on the foreign situation, as he strove to clear his desk prior to leaving the capital tonight on a trip through Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Stephen Early, press secretary, said the state department officials had asked for the appointment.

Asked whether the United States and England were conferring on the troubled situation in the Far East, where Japan has announced an alliance with the European axis, Early replied: "I don't know. I think the President said some time ago that the discussions were almost continuous."

Referring to the radio address which Mr. Roosevelt is to make at 9 p. m. Saturday from his train at Dayton, Ohio, Early said the President, "speaking to the entire hemisphere," would elaborate on the "fall for one and one for all" idea.

"I have definite assurances that the speech will be non-political," Early continued.

He disclosed that a brief stop at Newton Falls, Ohio, had been added to the itinerary. The President is to arrive there late Friday, and without leaving his train view the site of a proposed powder plant alongside the Baltimore & Ohio railway.

Asked whether Martin L. Davey, former Governor of Ohio, would join the President's party, the secretary said he thought so. No special invitations went out, Early said, because "if we invited people the train would be loaded down and we would have to have two sections."

Early outlined the itinerary of the trip beginning late today as Washington, Johnstown, Pa., Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Ohio, Newton Falls, Akron, Columbus, Dayton and return to Washington.

No inspection of any defense or industrial facilities is planned at Johnstown, he said, outlining the following schedule for other points:

Pittsburgh — visits to the Youngstown Sheet and Tube plant and other plants working on defense materials. This visit will be Friday afternoon.

Newton Falls — Brief stop.

Akron — Ten minute operating stop without leaving train.

Columbus — Arrival Saturday morning for a stop of about an hour and a half to visit Fort Hayes, confer with staff officers of the Fifth army and the Fifth conservation corps area, and inspect Pointexter housing projects.

Dayton — Arrival Saturday afternoon to visit Wright memorial, inspect Wright field, visit veterans' facilities, visit the home of former Governor James M. Cox, and broadcast at 9 o'clock.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE OPPOSES THIRD TERM

By The Associated Press
PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 10 — Adam Frick, Democratic nominee for state senator, announced today that he opposed a third term for President Roosevelt.

In a letter to U. S. Senator Edward R. Burke (D-Neb.) Frick said a third term was "an un-American objective," accused the New Deal of "sinister politics" and asserted that "it's not impossible to make any one man in the nation the greatest of all" with "forty-five billions of other people's resources."

Davey Making Series of Campaign Addresses in Counties Near Marion

Speaks at Kenton, Heads for Marysville and Upper Sandusky; Bricker and Burton on Tours.

After promising an audience of more than 500 at Kenton last night an increase in old age pensions to $40 a month, Martin L. Davey, seeking election as governor, today continued his campaign tour through this section of Ohio. He was scheduled to appear at Marysville, Upper Sandusky, Titusville and Fremont today. The Associated Press reported.

Davey told his listeners he would eliminate the sales tax entirely, when a proper substitute has been found.

Attacks Economy Claims

He assailed Gov. Bricker's claims of economy, declaring: "When we left office there was $6,500,000 in the school fund and definitely ear-marked for the schools. One of the first official acts of Bricker was to remove the ear-mark from this fund."

He claimed tax reductions of $72,000,000 were made during his previous two terms as governor. Any substitute for the sales tax, which he called a "poor man's tax," would be based on ability to pay, he said.

The state's roads, Davey charged, are in worse shape than they have been in many years.

Meanwhile, Gov. Bricker, at Ashland, vowed to keep the old age pension law out of "the mire of partisan politics."

The Associated Press reported.

The governor promised one of the largest crowds ever to attend a political rally in Ashland county that he would continue economy in government.

Burton at Youngstown
At Youngstown, Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland asserted that President Roosevelt might be incapacitated by the strain of a third term and suggested his reelection would be unfair both to the President and the nation.

Burton, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, said a third term meant 12 years in office for all of the President's appointees.

Bricker was to appear today in Niles, Conneaut, Andover, Jefferson and Geneva.

Republican headquarters in Chicago announced that Miss Marion E. Martin, director of the women's division of the Republican national committee, would address a statewide Republican women's rally in Columbus Friday, and that Mrs. Grace B. Reynolds, Indiana national committeewoman, would speak at Akron Oct. 12 and Bowling Green Oct. 18.

Harold W. Carlisle, Columbus newspaperman, was named to the Ohio Republican party publicity staff by State Chairman Ed. D. Schorr. Carlisle has taken a leave of absence from the Ohio State Journal until after the Nov. 5 election.

Signs of Worry Seen in Il Duce's Promises to U. S.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There are very positive signs of axis worry in the fact that Signor Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, has taken our Uncle Sam up into a high mountain, shown him the kingdoms of the world and offered him a princely bribe if he will "remain neutral until the destruction of the British empire has been effected."

Specifically Canada, Newfoundland, the Bahamas, Bermuda and Jamaica have been dangled before Sam's eyes. He might also get Australia and New Zealand.

That offer was made yesterday. Just so there wouldn't be any misunderstanding, Il Duce's paper the day before announced that Germany, Italy and Japan were prepared to go to war with America if we rejected the triple alliance offers and "threw down the gauntlet."

I doubt if the three musketeers really believe Uncle Sam would knife anybody — either foe or friend — for gain. However, their threats and overtures indicate their anxiety over England's increasing strength — admittedly due in no small degree to the material assistance which the United States is giving.

It also is significant that these moves of the triple alliance are coincident with a sudden display of amicable gestures among Russia, America and Britain — with Britain's strategically situated ally, Turkey, also waving a friendly hand to the Muscovites. Active collaboration by Washington, London and Moscow is the last thing the alliance wants.

It is understandable that the axis should have particular concerns over the situation at this piece-meal time, since indications are that Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini are on the verge of launching a new great offensive against Britain — quite likely in the Mediterranean theater. It is imperative from the standpoint of their prestige both at home and abroad that they succeed in this new venture in view of the Nazi failure thus far to crush England by direct assault on the British Isles.

Willkie contended that "the New Deal has sold this nation a bill of goods — it has sold us on the idea that jobs are difficult to make."

He added that there was a potential market of many billions but that New Deal attacks against business "has utterly destroyed the confidence of business."

At the start of his address, Willkie remarked that those in the factories in this section "know how to produce defense."

His Lack of Defense

"But you know, too," he continued, "that today the United States is not being defended. We are not producing fast enough. The New Deal has put a brake on production."

"I intend to put my foot on the accelerator,"

This country, he said, does not "pick fights, but once in, we fight until we have won."

"Ours is not and never shall be a policy of appeasement," he continued. "We will not appease dictators. And on the other hand, I can promise this for the Republican party: We will not appease Communists — in Washington or anywhere else."

"We believe in peace and we want peace. But we shall have our kind of peace only by becoming strong."

"You people of Connecticut... have given your blood to win freedom for America and to keep that freedom."

"You will do it again if necessary."

Willkie opened his campaign for New England votes today by telling audiences in a half dozen Connecticut cities that there must be an end to federal deficits and debts.

Elsewhere in the Willkie camp, the Republican national committee made public a survey claiming that Willkie could carry 27 states with 334 electoral votes; announcement was made that Alfred E. Smith would make his first speech for Willkie in Brooklyn Oct. 23, and Republicans and Willkie Democrats in Georgia united behind a single slate of electors.

Jackson Attacks Willkie's Policies

Attorney General Jackson took to the air waves from Washington with a speech asserting that the Republican party had nothing to offer America and that Willkie's campaign proved it.

Jackson called Willkie's foreign policy "confused" and said the Republican candidate debated "with himself, taking both sides of every issue." He charged that the Republican nominee sought both to side with President Roosevelt and scold him at the same time.

The campaign, meanwhile, brought fresh announcements of transferred political allegiance.

Albert S. Goss, former land bank commissioner in the present administration and a previous supporter of President Roosevelt, came out for Willkie, saying he thought Mr. Roosevelt was leading the country into both war and bankruptcy. He likewise registered opposition to a third term.

WILLKIE

"I propose that the government undertake to build the best possible laboratories in various parts of the country. And I propose that the government put these laboratories at the disposal of little industry and little business at a nominal fee."

Shouts for Willkie

Shouts of "We want Willkie" were mixed with boos when the Republican presidential nominee mentioned President Roosevelt and Chairman Edward J. Flynn of the Democratic national committee.

Often those in the rear of the crowd sought to surge toward the platform and a squad of policemen had to struggle to keep them back.

Willkie, standing under flood lights attached to near-by trees, told his audience that the New Deal had injured such little business men as "the druggist, the grocer and the little manufacturer."

Cutting much from his prepared talk in order to stay within the limitations of his radio time, the nominee declared:

"The biggest companies can not expand much." But the little companies must expand and must multiply if we are to put our people back to work. This is the only way by which we can make enough new jobs."

Coming to New Haven after touring 116 miles through a score of Connecticut towns, Willkie declared that the New Deal has "pretended to hate big business" but has injured small business men.

Willkie contended that "the New Deal has sold this nation a bill of goods — it has sold us on the idea that jobs are difficult to make."

He added that there was a potential market of many billions but that New Deal attacks against business "has utterly destroyed the confidence of business."

At the start of his address, Willkie remarked that those in the factories in this section "know how to produce defense."

Mrs. Isabella Greenway King, an intimate friend of the Roosevelt family, however, said she was opposed to a third term and would back Willkie whom she praised for a "sound and courageous program."

A former Democratic representative from Arizona, Mrs. King seconded Mr. Roosevelt's nomination at the 1932 convention.

Rival party chairmen contributed their bit to yesterday's developments.

Edward J. Flynn, the national Democratic chief, came back to New York from a western swing with the accusation that the "Willkie forces hope to buy the election" by huge expenditures of money.

Rep. Joe Martin (Mass.), the Republican field marshal, said "we hear reports (in Washington) of a proposed censorship of the press. Although saying we can not believe there is any liberty in the reports," he added "liberties are too precious to be jeopardized."

President's Son Takes Over Duties at Dayton.

By The Associated Press
DAYTON, O., Oct. 10 — Elliott Roosevelt began his career as an army air corps captain today determined to avoid "political fights" over his commission.

Roosevelt, second son of the President, is assigned to the procurement branch of the material division at Wright Field.

He arrived at the field yesterday and was halted at the gate by a sentry who forced him to prove his identity. Roosevelt was admitted after producing a telegram from Col. Oliver P. Echols, assistant chief of the material division.

Roosevelt has had no previous military experience. He is 30 years old.

The captain and his wife drove here from Fort Worth, Tex. They will live in a downtown hotel because all officers' quarters at the field are occupied.

"No. 1 Layman" Speaks Here

G. LaTourneau on Program at Reformed Church Synod Meeting; Travels by Plane.

Between 450 and 500 persons attended throughout this part of Ohio and the First Evangelical and Reformed church last night for an annual synod meeting. G. LaTourneau, president of the Reformed church, was the "No. 1 Layman" which highlighted the annual one-day fall meeting of the Northwest Ohio Synod of the Reformed and Reformed churches.

Throughout the day sessions attended around 300 or 325. People attended from as far south as Delaware, as far east as Crested Butte, north to the lake and west to the state line.

Rev. George W. Good of Upper Meriden, president of the group, presided. Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of the host church, led the sessions and welcomed the visitors.

Also on the program last night was the Joy Bell Ringers. Rev. Paul P. Kehl, pastor of the host church, led the sessions and welcomed the visitors.

Speaker Makes Trip Here by Airplane

Mr. LaTourneau, president of the Reformed church, of Peoria, Ill., flew to Marion by plane from Chicago, arriving at about 5:30. He took off soon after the meeting closed, using the lights of two automobiles to mark the end of the Marion airport runways, and headed for Peoria. Accompanying him in the plane were a pilot, co-pilot, one his son, and William Metz, who does evangelistic work.

His night take-off was the first performed in this manner in the memory of airport workers.

Mr. LaTourneau in his address on "In Partnership with God," stressed the need for faith in works, faith in the truths of God by doing things in which you believe, instead of waiting to see the truths exemplified.

PUBLIC INSTITUTION REGISTRATIONS SET

Arrangements Made To List All of Draft Age.

Plans for the registration of inmates of Marion city and county institutions in the Oct. 18 military draft, including persons quartered on that date in city prison, city hospital and county jail were announced here today following instructions received from state headquarters in Columbus.

Precinct election workers in which the institutions are located will handle the registration of inmates with the aid of officials in charge. The board which serves for Fifth Ward, Precinct B, in which city hospital is located will go there to register eligible persons.

Similarly precinct workers in Fourth Ward, Precinct A in which the city prison is located will handle registration there and those in First Ward, Precinct A will take charge of registration at the county jail.

A similar procedure is being worked out to handle the registration of eligible persons at the CCC camp on Edison pike, east of Marion. The camp is located in the voting precinct known as Marion township, South, and workers will go to the camp at a time to be announced later to handle the registrations.

Checks at the county home, detention home and children's home revealed that there are no persons eligible for the draft at any of the three institutions, officials reported.

VERNON STUDENTS NOMINATE OFFICERS

Use Government Ballot Plan;
Election Friday.

Members of the student body of Vernon Heights junior high school have selected rival slates of candidates at a primary election in preparation for the election of a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer on Friday. The program began Oct. 2 as a citizenship training project of the social science committee, when Miss Margaret Watkins, J. Eugene Auld and Miss Irene Curless explained the mechanics of an election at an assembly.

For two days nominating petitions, patterned after those used by persons seeking public office, were circulated. Nineteen were received and approved. Three precincts were established with one for each grade. Voting booths, printed ballots, precinct registers and ballot boxes added realism to the primary election which was conducted Monday.

The nominees are: Rex Kilbourn and Bill Williams, for president; Peggy Hale and Charles Fazio, for vice president; Bob Virden and Jim Smithson, for secretary; Seward Young and Patricia Bryans, for treasurer.

A political rally was held Wednesday, each candidate being introduced by a campaign manager. Short talks preceded a general demonstration.

Student election board members serving the three precincts are:

Precinct 7—Tom Dill and Bill Wiedemann, clerks; Howard Williams, Helen Stoll, Glen Search and Lawrence Allen, judges.
Precinct 8—Josephine Fazio and Dick Dill, clerks; James Williams, Janet Stein, Joan Masz and Delnor Hinaman, judges.
Precinct 9—William Coulter and Jack Robins, clerks; Jack Arter, Nannette Millisor, Virginia Howard and Bill Smith, judges.

Death Ends Work of Missionary from Bleak Coast of Labrador

By The Associated Press
CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 10.—Death of Sir Wilfred Grenfell, the missionary who gave spiritual and medical care to the Eskimos of Labrador, was announced today.

He died here yesterday at the age of 73 years. The cause of death was stated as "sovereign blood poisoning." The Grenfell association hopes to carry on the work of the founder started for the Eskimo people who are our "lost brothers."

His funeral plans were incomplete. His body would be cremated and the ashes taken to Labrador to be buried near St. Anthony's chapel, near those of Lady Grenfell who died two years ago.

Sir Wilfred completed a game of croquet on the lawn of his summer home on the shore of Lake Champlain a short time before his death. He had been under treatment for the heart ailment for several years.

Born in England, he was knighted by King George V in 1927 in recognition of his missionary work.

Sir Wilfred is survived by two sons, Wilfred Jr., an instructor at St. Mark's school, Southboro, Mass., and Pascoe of Schenectady, N. Y., and a daughter, Rosamond of Schenectady.

Sir Wilfred forsook the comforts of civilization and assured success in the medical profession, to devote more than 40 years to the spiritual and physical needs of the Eskimo, Indians and fisher folk of Labrador and northern Newfoundland.

He began his work in that bleak region in 1892. He navigated ships up and down the treacherous coast, journeyed inland afoot or by dog team over windswept fields of ice and snow, came out to enlist more and more aid for his people, and built up a chain of hospitals, schools and relief centers.

At first Grenfell worked only from the ship. He held a ticket as master mariner and navigated the craft up and down the coast. But soon the first shore station was established and the work thereafter grew. In 1912 it was incorporated as The International Grenfell Association, with members in three nations.

When its guiding spirit retired from active work in 1924 it operated five hospitals, seven nursing stations, two orphanages (two others had burned), 14 industrial centers, four summer schools, three agricultural stations, 12 clothing distributing centers, four hospital ships, one supply schooner, a dozen community centers, several cooperative stores, a cooperative lumber mill and a haul-up ship for ship repairs. The staff included 60 surgeons, dentists, nurses, teachers and welfare

Nazis' American-Born Lord Haw Haw Cheerfully Confesses 'High Treason'

By PRESTON GROVER
AP Feature Service

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—I have met Lord Haw Haw.

He is that almost fabulous Englishman—born in the United States—who by his own assertion perpetrates "high treason" daily against England by broadcasting from German stations with intent to disturb British self-assurance.

He is blond, ruddy-faced, short William Joyce, former British fascist Mosleyite who was a prime mover for national-socialism in England until August, 1939. Then, as it became evident war was about to break out, he and his wife hastily packed a few bags and dashed away to Germany. They had become "sold" on Nazism and on Hitler as its world exponent.

Now several times of an evening Lord Haw Haw reports the war in 15-minute broadcasts, always directed at English listeners. He ribs British patriotism, sardonically ridicules British claims of victories. He urges the inevitability of Nazi victory with a half enjoining, half ironic voice as British as Trafalgar square.

His "title" is British. Quickly his programs attracted a tremendous audience in England. English papers and magazines carried stories about him. Who was he? If he were German, how could he have acquired that unburied English accent? The British dubbed him Lord Haw Haw.

Even in Germany few people know him. He broadcasts only on short wave bands, Germans rarely have short wave receivers, and are forbidden to listen to foreign broadcasts. Foreign correspondents, allowed to tune in on foreign broadcasts, listen to him regularly, but few ever have seen him.

We met quite by accident, of all hours, 3.30 a. m. in the half-darkened hallway of the German propaganda ministry. The foreign press had been invited to tour the city to see the effects of a British bomb raid. Joyce was going along too.

"That's Lord Haw Haw," whispered one of the party to me. In no time we were talking. He is decidedly short, perhaps five feet four inches, and lightly knit physically.

His voice was unmistakable. On the air he uses no name whatever. In Germany he has adopted his German name of Froelich.

He grinned when I suggested he was far better known in England than in Germany.

They Like His Drillery
"I suppose so," he said, then added with that touch of drillery that seems to have tickled the English:

"Not so many listen now. The German bombers are keeping them in the cellar all the time."

He was casual and friendly. From time to time he stroled over to my side to help me understand the flood of German that periodically drowned my limited vocabulary.

A day or so later he sent me a book in English he has just published in Germany. Called "Twilight Over England," it tells his views of why England has come to such a pass. She ought to have become national socialist, Joyce writes.

"I was born in New York in 1908," Joyce wrote. "My father's people had lived in Ireland since the Norman conquest. From my mother I inherited English, Irish and Scottish blood.

"I went to school in Ireland... From my earliest days I was taught to love England and her Empire. Patriotism was the highest virtue that I knew."

Joyce joined the British fascists in 1923, when he was about 17. He saw a "certain amount of street and hall fighting against the Communists."

He has a scar across his right cheek.

Broke With Mosley
In 1933 Joyce joined Mosley's new "British Union of Fascists," and instituted in it, he said, definite anti-Jewish policy.

"To anybody who could see, in the years 1933 and 1935," he wrote, "it was only a specially successful effort to spread national-socialism widely in England that could avert the tragedy which has come to pass."

He broke with Mosley in 1937 "over organizational matters," and formed a movement of his own. "To the Jews and financiers he had most of England's troubles, British patriotism, he said, ever neglected the English poor.

Two times in the year before the war he was arrested, and later acquitted of charges of disturbing the peace and assault.

Then, as the country moved toward war, he prepared to leave. He felt that if "for perfect reasons of conscience, I could not fight for her (England), I must give her up for ever."

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Verities Begins the Recital of an Earlier Romance Involving Royalty and a Terrible Inheritance.

"You will be ready at the time you named," I told her sedately. "And she will be very glad to see you. But she will have to be in the room. Olga is asleep after a long day with a headache, and she doesn't wish to be disturbed." "But the poor child!" he commented with sympathy that was not entirely sincere, for he is extremely fond of his future step-daughter. "But in a way it is fortunate that she is asleep, for I may have to tell her some very palatable hearing of her father's ears."

"To my surprise, although I expected such a reaction, his face suddenly brightened with embarrassment. He rose abruptly from his chair and moved closer to the ones in which he had seated us when he entered the room. When he sat down again, he put his hands upon the chair arms, and I saw his fingers press the wood deeply and knew that he either did not feel, or was disregarding the pain involved."

Phil's Story
"This is a long story," he said, "part of which you know, another part of which you have guessed, and a third of which you are woefully ignorant. But it is my sad fate now to make you acquainted with the whole miserable tale."

"He stopped, and I again noticed the sensation of 'holding one's breath.' Then he spoke again slowly, and we focused all our attention upon him. "There is no hereditary madness in my family," he said heavily, adding bitterly, a second later, "my 'bar sinister' family."

With a smothered little exclamation, Lillian sprang up, moved her chair quickly close to his, and taking one of the tightly pressed hands in her own, held it comfortingly, maternally. He looked at her gratefully, and I saw the pressure of the other fingers relax a bit.

He was like a small boy, needing a mother's comfort. I told myself, feeling sympathy for him, that I was his heart, although against the protest of my brain. "But," he went on, "an eminent neurologist once told me that the terrible will power, the arrogance, the fierce fits of anger were my heritage from the royal family of my unacknowledged father. He killed himself, took my mother with him, and forfeited a throne rather than be parted from my mother. This could have the cumulative effect of madness upon me."

A Shuddering Recital
He stopped and a shudder went over his whole frame. Then he went on, while Lillian clung tightly to his hand. "There came a time in my life when they did have that cumulative effect," he said. "I shall tell you about that time a little later. But first I wish to tell you two other things. The first is to assure you, my dear," he turned his eyes upon me, "that you need have no fear of Noel's inheriting those traits which so nearly have been my ruin. He has too much of his gentle mother in him. Her blood has saved him the consequences I have had to suffer. "The second thing," he went on after a pause, "you have guessed, although it never has been spoken of openly among us. But you both have known of my determination—insane, I now know it to be—although at the time it seemed only natural to me—to have Noel marry Olga."

I could not repress a start, for I had not expected his revelation to take this turn. But a glance at Lillian showed me that she was anticipating his words before he uttered them, and I focused my attention upon him again.

Early Obsession
"What you do not know," he went on, "was that this determination of mine had its beginning in Noel's early boyhood before he went away to college. As I have told you before, I never lost track of Olga, and was familiar with every detail of her life. When Olga was born only two years after Noel came into the world, the idea first seized me, but as long as my gentle wife lived I crushed it. She knew nothing of that early romance she died without knowing. But after her death, Noel became all mine—he was far more his mother's during her lifetime, the idea became an obsession. All the frustration, the bitterness of that early tragedy of mine fused itself into it. I had great wealth and I determined that eventually Noel's children should legally be members of the family I never could enter, and bear the name I never could use."

GROOM ABSENT
By International News Service
MIAMI, Fla.—Behind the closed doors of his courthouse office, County Judge W. F. Blanton married Miss Callista Post Elliot, socially prominent, to a young scientist then thousands of miles away in Brazil. Charles Eugene James, Miami insurance executive, held the bride's hands as she swore to the same vows which her husband, Otis Reinbert Causey, had previously taken before a British vice consul. She left the next day to join him in Brazil.

Nig and Red, who have been on pasture in Swope Park for years now are more than 30 years old but they will not live much longer, according to the attendants.
